HIS NEIGHBOR'S WIFE.

One year ago, in lonely state,
I'd sit and gaze across the way
To a home where, early, late,
All hours things were bright and gay—

A couple, young and free from care,
Also, how many seemed my life,
For she was bright and winking fair,
The girl I called my neighbor's wife.

One year ago! How could they guess
The happiness of simple paradise
And tokens of their happiness?
Were oft observed by envious eyes!

I learned to hate the other man;
I avowed that he had wrecked my life,
For could I but have changed the plan
She'd not have been my neighbor's wife.

One year ago, and now there sits
Beside me, winking, fair and gay,
The girl I loved, and now there sits
Another girl across the way.

He is not my neighbor's wife,
And he and I are friends for life.
She was his sister, don't you see?
And now she is his neighbor's wife.

HANNA'S CAMPAIGN FUND.

Various stories have been afloat as to the extent of Mr. Hanna's campaign fund. Now the New York Journal states as a fact that Mr. McKinley's manager had upwards of $16,000,000. By the judicious expenditure of this fund, that is placing the money on the Oakes Ames principle where it would do the most good, every large city north of Mason and Dixon's line and Louisville, Kentucky, and Baltimore, Maryland, was carried by the gold men. Mr. Hanna conducted the campaign as he would business. His agents were instructed to levy assessments on States and divide prospective contributions into classes. The institutions asked for contributions were National banks, State banks, savings banks, trust companies, representatives of foreign financial interests and all manufacturing concerns having an interest in high tariff legislation. Divided by States the lists of contributions were something like this: New York, $8,000,000; Pennsylvania, $2,500,000; Connecticut, New Jersey, Illinois and Ohio, $1,000,000 each; Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, $2,000,000; Maryland, West Virginia, Delaware and Kentucky, $2,000,000, and all the other States about $2,500,000. In New York the trusts, railroads and banks contributed $2,000,000. J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. gave $100,000. Lazard Frères, Brown Brothers & Co., Belmont Banking house, Vermilye & Co., Heidelberg, Iselheimer & Co. and Morton, Bliss & Co. gave from $25,000 to $50,000 each. The insurance companies were very liberal and the Vanderbilt family contributed $250,000.

There is an unexpended surplus of about $2,000,000 and Republican National headquarters have been established in Washington permanently or as long as the money holds out. In some Congressional districts, where the opposition candidate was prominent, in the silver cause, $75,000 was expended for what is called "special work," to defeat the Silver nominee. Mr. Hanna was especially desirous to defeat Congressman Towns of Minnesota, who left the Republican party when it declared against silver, and Joseph C. Sibley of Pennsylvania and $100,000 was expended in each district for "special work."

Some of the Nevada leaders wrote very urgent letters for funds, alleging that money would carry the State for McKinley, but it appears that others of Mr. Hanna's advisers thought it useless and little if any money was sent to Nevada.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

The night of the Presidential election the gold standard papers claimed two-thirds of the States and a popular majority of 1,400,000 for McKinley. Some of them have never corrected the misstatement but leave the impression on the minds of their readers that two-thirds of the States gave their electoral votes to the gold standard candidate. Now the facts, as nearly as can be ascertained until the official returns of all the States are compiled, are as follows:

The total vote was about 13,732,498, of which McKinley received 7,044,884; Bryan, 6,452,218; Palmer, 116,698; Levington, 104,427; Bently, 10,678; Matchette, 9,042; McKinley's plurality, 592,666.

In 1860 when the popular vote was much less than half that cast at the recent election, Lincoln's plurality was 491,249, and in 1872 when the popular vote was less than half what it is now, Grant's majority was 762,691. So far from being a landslide a change of five per cent of the whole vote would have given Bryan a majority of the popular vote, and a change of 23,000 votes in the close States would have given him a majority of the electoral vote.

As it is Bryan carried 22 of the 45 States, and received one electoral vote in each of the States of California and Kentucky. McKinley carried 21 States, and in addition received a majority of the electoral votes of California and Kentucky. Draw a line on the map of the United States from the Mississippi east and north of Missouri, Tennessee and Virginia to the Atlantic and you inclose the States which gave their electoral votes to the gold standard candidate, with the exception of California and Oregon on the Pacific Coast, and a change of a few thousand votes would have given those two States to Bryan. The States within a few hundred miles of Wall street and completely under the control of the gold trust elected McKinley and gave him a large popular majority.

THE FUNDING BILL MAY NOT PASS.

It is reported that a careful canvass and weighing of probabilities has satisfied the bond-aided railroad lobbyists at Washington that there is very little prospect of the passage of the funding bill at this session of Congress. There are too many large interests arraying themselves in opposition to the measure, but a determined effort to secure the needed legislation will be made. It is stated that the Reorganization Committee of the Union Pacific will make a proposition to pay the Government a lump sum for its interest in the property. This is in accordance with the suggestion of the Secretary of the Interior, but it is not known how the Central Pacific stands on the proposition.

The Union Pacific and the Central Pacific stand on a different basis. The Union Pacific has been in the hands of receivers appointed by the United States Courts for some time. It is in a much worse condition financially than the Central Pacific, and as several millions of its bonds, for the redemption of which the Government is responsible, mature on the 1st of January next something must be done if the funding bill is not passed to prevent the Government from foreclosing its lien on the road.

The President states in his message that unless Congress shall otherwise direct or shall have previously determined upon a different solution of the problem there will hardly appear any reason for delaying beyond the date of default (January 1, 1897) such executive action as will promise to subserve the public interests and save the Government from the loss threatened by further inaction. It may be taken for granted, therefore, that if Congress does not settle the question in some way that proceedings will be instituted in a few weeks by the Government to get what it can out of the Union Pacific road.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

The Funding Bill to go Over Until January.

WASHINGTON, December 10.—The Senate took up the Immigration bill this afternoon. Mr. Gibson moved that the question go over until the first Monday in January, which occasioned a sharp debate.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, December 10.—The Cannon Land bill was defeated in the House.

The bill sought to enable aliens to acquire title to real property in the Territories under a mortgage foreclosure, but provided that they must dispose of such title within ten years. The Pacific Funding bill will not be considered until January 5th. Several members of the Pacific Railway Committee will not be here until before the holidays, hence its postponement.

THE REFEREE FINED.

He Carried a Gun to the Prize Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 10.—The case of Wyatt Earp, charged with carrying a concealed weapon, was heard in the police court to-day. Earp said he was employed at the race track, and had to be abroad at late hours.

Moreover number of Arizona criminals whom he had been instrumental in sending to prison had vowed to kill him on sight. He carried a gun for self-protection. Police Captain Wittmam told how he disarmed Earp on the night of the fight between Fitzsimmons and Sharkey. Earp was fined $50, the minimum penalty.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

The Executive Committee of the National Democratic Committee met in Washington yesterday.

The Committee suggested by W. Colton of Colorado at the Republican National caucus has been appointed to prepare a bill with a view of securing international action on silver.

The North German-Lloyd steamer Salier, bound from Bremen to Buenos Ayres, was wrecked off the coast of Spain. There were 210 passengers and a crew of sixty and all were lost.

The German Government has notified the Chinese Government that the Chinese Minister at Berlin is not acceptable, because Germany was not previously consulted, and the Minister is not of sufficiently exalted rank.

Ex-Queen Liliuokalani of the Hawaiian Islands has arrived at San Francisco. It is said she is here on a pleasure trip which she may extend to Europe. She declined to say whether or not she is going to Washington.

John G. Newell, Register of the Springfield, Missouri, Land Office, has been requested to send in his resignation to the Secretary of the Interior. The charge against him is perfidious political activity. He advocated the cause of silver.

The evidence in the Sharkey-Fitzsimmons contest for the $10,000 purse shows the jobs put up by prize fighters to get the money. Two of Sharkey's trainers stated that the whole thing was arranged before hand and that Earp was to receive $2,500.

A report from Havana says Dr. Zerichau, the personal physician of Antonio Maceo, the Cuban leader, has surrendered to the Spaniards and confirms the announcement of the death of Maceo. Another report says it is learned positively that the reported death of Maceo is false.

The Iron Mountain express was held up one mile from Union Station, St. Louis, by six masked men, who blew open the door of the express car with dynamite. The men stood in the center of the track and waved a red lantern. When the engineer stopped the engine two men jumped on and told the engineer not to move if he valued his life. Two others attended to the express car but secured no money. The whole thing was over in fifteen minutes.

Rudolph Brockmon, a wealthy farmer of Oswego, Kansas, has been held in the sum of $10,000 to answer for the murder of his 17-year-old daughter. He gave the girl a terrible beating because she did not work to suit him. He then tied a rope around her ankles, tied the other end of the rope to the wagon and drove to his barn a quarter of a mile, dragging the girl behind. He locked her up in the barn without food and sufficient clothing, where she was found by her uncle. She died from her injuries.

A girl's idea of a pretty wedding dress is one that cannot possibly be of any use to a woman after she has married.

Home is dearer to a woman than a man because to her it is a place where she can sit around without her corsets on.

It would be considered the height of discourtesy for a man to give a dance in the Missouri bottoms and not have some whisky for his guests.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but merely to a temporary derangement of the system, which the pleasant, fully laxative Syrup of Figs promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

The syrup is a valuable aid to good health, and the system is regular, laxative, if other remedies are then not needed. If affected with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

STATE CAPITAL NOTES.

Death of Attorney-General Beatty—A Perhaps Fatal Accident to an Old Timer—Some Milling and Fish Items.

CARSON, December 10, 1896.
Hon. Robert M. Beatty, Attorney-General for the State of Nevada, died at his rooms in the Arlington Hotel, about noon to-day. General constitutional decline for the last few months combined with pneumonia and heart failure induced the final result. He was able to be about and attend to his official duties however until some three or four weeks ago, when he experienced a severe attack of pneumonia and had to stay at home. He seemed to rally and to be on the road to recovery and on Sunday last came down to the hotel office for a short time. About 11 a. m. today his unusually heavy breathing in his room attracted attention and he was found in an unconscious condition. Medical assistance was summoned and he recovered consciousness but soon relapsed and died.

Deceased was a native of Illinois, aged about 46 years, although his flowing grey hair and beard and generally aged appearance was that of a man of over sixty. He came to the Pacific Coast in 1882 and to Nevada in 1888. He studied law in Virginia City and was admitted to the bar at Hamilton, White Pine County, in 1871. In 1873 he became a resident of Eureka, was elected District Attorney, and resided there until a couple of years ago when he was elected State Attorney-General. He was an able man and good officer and an army of friends regret his loss.

He leaves a brother, a sister and two sons in California, the brother will arrive here to-morrow morning. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, No. 7, K. of P., and theodge here has taken charge of his remains. He will probably be buried here. The appointment of his successor in office devolves upon Governor Sadler.

Hank May, for the last twenty-six years foreman at the Mexican Mill, down on the river, got his right arm caught in the machinery last evening and would round a shaft until both bones below the elbow and the one above were broken and the elbow joint itself badly shattered. The arm may have to be amputated. Being 66 years of age it goes hard with the old boy, and may be the death of him, although he strives hard to keep his courage up.

The Mexican Mill is being run on tailings by Peek Brothers. The Mormon Mill is running steadily on from the Con. Va. mine and the Brumwick on test ore from Gold Hill.

Owing to repairs to the main pipe of the city waterworks an outside volume of air got in yesterday afternoon, making the water under pressure look whitish like milk from the air contained.

It had the deadly effect to kill the trout in barrel fish tanks or aquaria, notably that of Tim Dempsey, which contained eight extra fine fish which he had had there the last three years. Tim is disconsolate and his many friends grieve with him.

DEATH OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

He Died Unexpectedly at Carson Yesterday.

Robert M. Beatty, Attorney General, died at Carson yesterday, aged 46 years. He had been subject to epileptic fits and while visiting Reno last summer had a severe attack from which he never fully recovered. Two or three weeks ago he was taken with pneumonia and was on the road to recovery when heart trouble caused his death.

General Beatty came to this coast with a child with his parents. He resided in Eureka for years and practiced the profession of the law. Two years ago he was elected Attorney General on the Silver ticket and performed the duties of the office faithfully and efficiently. He leaves two sons, one of whom is now a member of the Salvation Army. In recent years he had been strictly temperate and was a bright intelligent man and had many personal friends who will regret to hear of his untimely death. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias and will be buried by the order.

THE BICYCLE RACE.

Twelve of the Riders Drop Out of the Contest.

The score at the international bicycle race in New York yesterday afternoon stood as follows: Hale 1,224 miles, Rice 1,178 miles, Foster 1,181, Moore 1,145, Schook 1,136, Roeding 1,158, Taylor 1,146, Pierce 1,128, Smith 1,139, Ashinger 1,044, Maddox 1,050, Cassidy 1,020, Glyck 921, Gannon 918, McLeod 805.

The race is to continue six days if the riders hold out. They started at 1 o'clock Monday morning. There were then 27 contestants; now there are 16.

The riders rest when they please and as long as they please. Some of the riders are so weak that they rest their breasts on braces fastened to the forks of the wheel.

THE SURVEYOR-GENERALSHIP.

General Irish Will Probably Get the Office.

News has reached here that General Irish will be appointed United States Surveyor-General of Nevada at the expiration of General Belknap's term.

General Irish was appointed to the office by President Cleveland when he was first elected President. He was not then a resident of the State, but he acquired a residence and voted here and registered here before the late election.

His brother, John P. Irish of California, stumped Indiana and Iowa for McKinley in the recent campaign, and was one of the most pronounced gold men in the country. He has theretofor a strong "pull" at Washington and it is believed that he will get the Surveyor-Generalship of Nevada.

That would be disappointing to some of our local statesmen who advocated the gold standard in the hope of getting office in the event of McKinley's election, but General Irish will not care much for that.

Quaker Case From White Pine.

The case of Hayes vs. Davis is a remarkable one. Davis loaned Hayes money, taking a county warrant as security. The warrant was lost by Davis or stolen from him. It mysteriously disappeared, he never could tell how. Hayes and Davis then agreed that Davis should try to have a law enacted for the issue of a new warrant, so that Davis might secure the payment of the amount due him. The legislature passed such an act and the warrant was issued. When Davis attempted to collect the money Hayes brought suit in White Pine county to prevent the payment of the warrant, Hayes suing simply as a resident of the county. The District Court decided in favor of Hayes.

All the ranchers on the meadows are anxiously awaiting a market for their hay. Some of it has been purchased by the cattlemen, but at such extremely low prices as to preclude the possibility of any profit being made from that product, unless, indeed, an unprecedented hard winter compels the stock owners to either starve the bovine or else feed them.

Why don't the management stop the "hood" work that every entertainment in the Opera House seems to call forth? No matter how nicely a play is rendered, there is a crowd of "higher heaven" gods who seem to think it their strict privilege to howl loud and long at every pause in the dialogue of a play. It is about time the theatre management shows enough independence to abate a most pronounced nuisance.

Viavi Cure.

The Schubert Symphony Club appeared at the Opera House last night before a fair sized audience under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., and gave a concert that was appreciated by those present. The singing by the lady quartette and the instrumental music by the Symphony Club were the features of the evening and were each encored.

Little Tommy Purcell is a charming little entertainer and a wonderful violinist for one so young. His singing and recitations brought forth storms of applause. The readings and recitations of Louis McPhee were well received and very good.

There are two things in connection with this article that I will remark on. They are the whistling nuisance and the people who come in after the performance has begun. That class who practice the art of imitating locomotive whistles in an Opera House to the discomfort of everyone else cannot be dominated as anything else but hoodlums, and the management should eject them. They would not be tolerated in any theatres in other cities but the dives, and those are the only kind of performances that suit their taste.

The other class, those who arrive after the performance has begun, are as a rule only thoughtless, still when they are unavoidably late they might exercise a little care and not make as much noise as a team of horses coming down the aisle, and the rest of the audience would be really thankful.

Cure For Diphtheria.

The Scientific American gives a receipt which the whole world should know: At the first indication of diphtheria in the throat make the room close, then take a tin cup and pour into it an equal quantity of tar and turpentine, then hold the cup over the fire so as to fill the room with fumes. The patient on inhaling the fumes will cough out the membranous matter and diphtheria will pass off. The fumes of tar and turpentine loosen the throat and thus affords the relief that has baffled the skill of physicians.

BREVITIES.

Eastern buyers are purchasing beef steers, yearlings, stags, cows, and every kind and character of animals that will make beef. The weather has been very fine with the exception of one cold and stormy spell which lasted a week or more. There are very few cattle left for sale in the eastern part of the State.

The new works at Nickel will be in operation about the 21st instant. Nickel is a mining camp which is situated in Cottonwood Canyon near the line of Churchill and Humboldt counties. The mines carry high grade ores of nickel and cobalt, but some trouble has heretofore been experienced in working them.

Messrs. Muller and Stumpf, the resident agents of the Pabst Beer Company, have added a splendid lot of wines and liquors to their stock especially procured for family and medicinal purposes. ## LINCOLN'S RESOLVE.

It Was Made After He Had Heard Stories in a Law Case.

There is in all truly great men a mixture of self reliance and of humility—two traits that are not so contradictory as they seem. Lincoln exhibited both traits in a remarkable degree. His acts showed the one, his words frequently expressed the other.

An anecdote in McClure's Magazine, in an article by Ida M. Tarbell, if we read it aright, brings out the secret of this apparent contradiction. Lincoln's humility impelled him to the exertion which gave him his self confidence. The anecdote narrates the first meeting of the man who was to be president with the man who was to be his secretary of war.

Abraham Lincoln and Edwin M. Stanton were employed as counsel on the same side in a great patent case which was tried in Cincinnati in 1865, it was arranged by their clients—much to Lincoln's disappointment—that Stanton should make the closing argument. Lincoln had prepared himself for the effort with unusual care, but he acquiesced good naturedly in the decision which put him in the second place.

Stanton's argument was one of great force, and Lincoln listened to it with the closest attention throughout. The narrator of the incident, Mr. Ralph Emerson, says that Mr. Lincoln took a long walk with him after the court had adjourned for the day. Mr. Lincoln was silent a long time. Then he exclaimed suddenly:

"Emerson, I am going home! I am going home to study law."

"Why?" returned Mr. Emerson, "Mr. Lincoln, you stand at the head of the bar in Illinois now! What are you talking about?"

"At, yes," he said, "I do occupy a good position there, and I think I can get along with the way things are done there now. But those college-trained men, who have devoted their whole lives to study, are coming west, don't you see? And they study their cases as we never do. They have got as far as Cincinnati now. They will soon be in Illinois."

Another long pause; then, stepping and turning toward Mr. Emerson, his countenance suddenly assuming that look of strong determination which those who knew him best sometimes saw upon his face, he exclaimed:

"I am going home to study law! I am as good as any of them, and when they get out to Illinois I will be ready for them!"

How It All Came About.

He took the little morsel but a few days to become the spreading oak. Ezekiel Rutenber told his wife in confidence that Josh Watkins said he'd like mighty well to buy Widow Spilkins' farm. Rutenbers ran into Mrs. Blunt's to borrow a little baking soda, and to pass her errand less objectionable told that Josh Watkins talked of buying Widow Spilkins' farm, thoughtfully muttering, "Twouldn't surprise me a bit if he would take the widow with the farm."

Mrs. Blunt left her baking in the stove while she threw her shawl over her head and went through the back way to Mrs. Penrup's to tell her that Josh Watkins was going to marry Widow Spilkins for her property and to wonder what would become of her children, giving it as an opinion that "like as not the widder would have 'em bound out."

Mrs. Penrup could scarcely wait till next morning, when she hitched up to drive over and tell Mrs. Flawerty that Josh Watkins was going to marry Widow Spilkins just to get her property and that those poor children of hers were soon to be bound out to any Tom, Dick or Harry that would take them. She thought "Josh, a designin' rascal and the widow a cruel mother."

All this soon reached the ears of Josh and the widow. They promptly went to pursuing the story down, and when they had traced the thing back to its tiny beginning were so sympathetically mad that they met pretty nearly every evening to hold indignation meetings. It naturally came about that they were engaged and just as naturally that they were married. Then Mrs. Ezekiel Rutenber and the rest of them had the nerve to boast that they made the match.—Detroit Free Press.

Spark Arresters.

The system of spark arrester, according to a recent writer in Engineering, which is found most efficient in locomotives is, for coal burners, the device known as the extended smoke box with straight smokestack, netting, deflecting plate and spark arrester. While no spark arresting arrangement is absolutely efficient, the degree of serviceableness of any such mechanism depends, it is urged, upon the care with which it is maintained in good condition. Fine sparks will be found to escape from such devices even when in the best condition and coarse sparks necessarily get egress when anything is in a defective state, and while the fine sparks are not of a dangerous character, the coarse sparks are. Emphasis is laid especially upon the care which should be bestowed upon a locomotive to prevent any portion of the machinery wearing into holes by keep-

JENNY LIND'S DEBUT.

Never Has a prima donna so charmed an American audience.

Elou A. Oakley Hall writes of "When Jenny Lind Sang in Castle Garden" for the Ladies' Home Journal. Of her first appearance—her first song—in America and the unprecedented enthusiasm she aroused Mr. Hall entertainingly and graphically writes: "Hark to the voice! It is beginning the first bar of 'Casta Diva,' from 'Norma.' The silence in the audience is intense. She has sung only a few bars of the matchless cavatina before all music lovers recognize that while other artists have endeavored to make something out of 'Casta Diva,' Jenny Lind is embodying it. There is the gradual growth of sonority, then rhythmic undulating now high notes, as triumphs of pure expression, and not of merely physical marvel, and finally birdlike ecstasy of trills. Before her is an abyss of hush, into which she pours that voice, the very soul of song. She ceases, and timidly—until proudly—bows and is retiring when the audience, not content with making the usual American demand for an encore, arises on mass, and repeats with four-fold energy and spirit the almost frantic demonstration with which it greeted Jenny Lind upon her entrance. The audience is literally wild. Never has a singer so stirred her listeners before. The thunderous applause keeps up for many minutes, until the audience seems exhausted."

"Trained musicians are praising the fluency and precision of Jenny's chromatic scales. One is emphasizing what he terms 'the inspired vitality of Lind's voice,' and the unanimous verdict seems to be that never were heard in concert room sweeter tones. Even white-haired veterans, who have listened to Mullerne and his sister Viardot, or to Grisi, or to Adelheid Kemble, all pronounce Jenny Lind the superior of those old time song angels in realms consecrated by Saint Cecilia."

A CLANKING GHOST.

Awful Experience of a Chicago Man in a Missouri Hotel.

"The most disagreeable experience in my travels," said the man from Chicago, "was when I awakened in the middle of the night in a Missouri hotel and heard a chain clank in my room. I don't know whether it is the association of a clanking chain that makes the sound so dismal or the mere fact of being awakened by a noise that shows the presence of something living, but I don't know of a more unpleasant awakening."

"I sat up in bed, but could see nothing, for the room was as dark as a pocket, and my heart thumped with suspense as I heard that weird clank, clank, clank, accompanied by a strange shuffling noise that was quite as mysterious and baffling. I reached under my pillow and drew out my—" Revolver?" suggested the man who finishes everybody's sentence.

"Navv, my whisky flask. I took a pull that would have made my wife give me a temporance lecture if she could have seen me!"

"And what became of it?"

"The whisky."

"No, the clanking ghost."

"Well, I fell off to sleep after awhile, and when I got up in the morning and investigated, I found out what it was."

"A man!"
